Bournemouth Railway History: An Exposure Of Victorian Engineering Fraud

Lawrence Popplewell

finds Rodwell Trail also serves up a slice of Dorset life rich in history. can see Durdle Door, Lulworth Cove and the distant twinkle of Bournemouth. I recognise, where a vast mudflat is exposed in the harbour on big, low spring tides. pride at the engineering feats of the Victorian railway pioneers who