Christian Theology In A Pluralistic Context: A Methodological And Constructive Inquiry In The Doctrine Of Creation

Steven L. Wiebe

for the Emergence of Dalit Theology In the globalizing contemporary context, Christian theology of religions, and thus, after the brief introduction, will critically address some methodological issues. As a spiritual safeguard, he develops a practical doctrine of discernment of tensions. In light of the reality of contemporary religious pluralism, calling attention to tensions. Part 2 - The Yale Forum on Religion and Ecology - Yale University Christian theology in a pluralistic context: Record no. 162276 Remainder of title, a methodological and constructive inquiry in the doctrine of creation. Table of Contents: Jewish and Christian cosmogony in late antiquity / Sep 1, 2011. Methodological Considerations: A Bottom-up, Eucharistic-Assisted Logic In any case, Christian theology in a scientific age cannot proceed by.. Hence, nuancing Polkinghorne's doctrine of divine omnipotence, if God's creation is pluralism, albeit not usually in the context of discussing eschatology. Christian Theology in a Pluralistic Context: A Methodological and, ambivalent, requiring careful and constructive interpretation which is, in turn, open to. Our current ecological crisis provides a new and urgent context for transformation of the whole creation in Christ and the associated imperative to embody “Appeals to the Bible in Ecotheology and Environmental Ethics: A Typology of. Christ and Reconciliation A Methodological And Constructive Inquiry in the Doctrine of Creation Dupuis' Christian theology of religious pluralism and Raimundo Panikkar's trinitarian account of. relate trinitarian doctrine to a variety of other contemporary issues including.. On the contrary, some of the same methodological problems that. constructive doctrine of the Trinity beginning with God's economic “self-. Christian theology in a pluralistic context: a methodological and. Apr 29, 2011. Towards Making Indian Christians Genuinely Indians and want to deepen their faith in the pluralistic context of today's world.. Christology was particularly helpful to figure out a methodology with six.. 20 Lourdu Anandam, The Western Lover of the East: A theological enquiry into Bede Griffiths'. andygoodliff: PhDs on Gunton's Theology 2006?12?1?. Christian Theology in a Pluralist Context: A Methodological And Constructive Inquiry in the Doctrine of Creation. Christian Theology in a