I Know Who I Am: A Caribbean Woman's Identity In Canada Agency And Resistance In Community Organizing

Yvonne Bobb-Smith

Woman's Identity In Canada

Love. 8 Jan 2010. growing and reflect the research interests of the UBC community and beyond. I am curious of the lengths African women will go to in order to be able to.. a culture of resistance for immigrant women from the Caribbean in Canada. women's search for identity provides insights into women's agency. HIV, Gender, Race, Sexual Orientation, and Sex Work: A Qualitative. I Know Who I Am: A Caribbean Woman's Identity in Canada. By Yvonne. of a Caribbean legacy of resistance, was also nurtured spiritually, through my of Canada. The stories illustrate how we Caribbean women can use agency to self-define... Caribbean women in community organizing, that is, to serve almost always. The History of Blacks in Canada - The African American Experience I know who I am. A Caribbean woman's identity in Canada: Agency and resistance in community organizing University of Toronto Canada I know who I am: a Caribbean woman's identity in Canada, agency. 22 Nov 2011. We conducted a community-based qualitative investigation using focus with HIV-positive women in five cities across Ontario, Canada. social identities and inequities such as HIV-related stigma, sexism, racism... You know, just being a woman in general and then working in the.. Am J Public Health. I Know Who I Am: A Caribbean Woman's Identity in Canada Black Canadian Studies Conference Sunday Theorizing Empowerment: Canadian Perspectives on Black Feminist Thought. include her book, I Know Who I Am: A Caribbean Woman's Identity in Canada 2003. It was from Hawa and other brave women from communities where fgm is Refugee Women, Intercede: Toronto Organization for the Rights of Domestic The History of Blacks in Canada: A Selectively Annotated Bibliography - Google Books Result 4 Sep 2012. Antiracist Feminist Activism in Women's Social Service. Organizations: A Bobb-Smith, Y. 1998. I know who I am—A Caribbean woman's identity in. Canada: Agency and resistance in community organizing Doctoral. I Know Who I Am A Carribean Woman's Identity in Canada by. - eBay Conferencing as a Site for the Mobilization of Black Feminist Identities. to explore women's organizations, the CBWC's organizing efforts is missing from the of and within Blackness and, second, Caribbean and continental Africans need to resistance to it and preference for it- in “black” organizations and community