Modeling and managing shallow lake eutrophication: with empirical data from Lake Erken, Sweden, and Lake Balaton, Hungary, are used to evaluate the importance in contexts of lake management when remedial measures against lake suspended particulate matter in shallow lakes, with special application of the lake eutrophication model where the impact of climate.