today's migrant crisis. When the program was terminated in the economic hard times of 1973, the majority in Germany, according to the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development,. Globally mass migration caused government failures are becoming the norm.