Race and Urban Space in Contemporary American Culture

Liam Kennedy

Space in Contemporary American Culture. Race and Urban Space in Contemporary American Culture by Liam. Race and Prosaic Materiality: The Archaeology of Contemporary Urban Space. The case reveals how racist privileges and African American heritage are at the heart of Cultural Trail, a downtown bike and pedestrian path linking five urban historic sites. The remaining public spaces including places like Monument Circle are...