The Industrial Revolution In The Upper Illinois Valley

Michael P Conzen Glenn M. Richard Carl A. Zimring

Michael P. Conzen, Glenn M. Richard, and Carl A. Zimring contributed to the Industrial Revolution in the Upper Illinois Valley. The book, published by the Illinois Valley Association, explores the impact of the Industrial Revolution on the Upper Illinois Valley in the 19th century. The book examines the economic, social, and cultural changes that occurred during this period, including the growth of cities along the Illinois & Michigan Canal Corridor, the transformation of the Upper Illinois Valley from a rural to an industrial landscape, and the role of women in the economy. The book also covers the impact of the Industrial Revolution on the environment, the development of new industries, and the shift from agriculture to manufacturing. The book is an important resource for understanding the history of the Upper Illinois Valley and the broader implications of the Industrial Revolution for the Midwest and the nation. It is recommended for students, researchers, and anyone interested in the history of the Midwest and the Industrial Revolution.
